FOS.net – our Cloud transition strategy

- Connectivity is driving the success or failure of Cloud transition.
- During transition to the Cloud connectivity is mission critical.
- Connectivity is not 'one size fits all'.
- Choose a supplier with a portfolio of connectivity partners.
- Consider building in redundancy and resilience into connectivity to ensure there are no single points of failure.

FOS.net – our Cloud transition checklist

- How will the Cloud fit within your existing I.T. infrastructure?
- How resilient are your IT systems?
- What happens if your connectivity options are limited?
- How can you introduce backup and failover routes?
- What about strategic input for development paths?

FOS.net – our Cloud transition checklist

- How can you identify what is the best connectivity solution? (it could be a blend of copper, fibre, cable, 4G, wimax, radio or satellite).
- If you have multiple sites they could be linked via private radio link or MPLS.
- Who will manage the deployment and configuration?
- Who will manage the ongoing support?
- Who will manage the billing?

FOS.net offers fully comprehensive support

This is what makes us unique:

- We are proactive
- We are strategic AND tactical
- We are process driven
- We do not limit your support in any way
- We offer much more than I.T. support

Dedicated focus on small business with average head count of 40 users.

More than just support. We can offer everything that you would expect of an inhouse I.T. manager.
